My focus is on helping leaders in Italy and Europe in shaping their agenda for technology strategy, data and artificial intelligence complex transformation, organization intervention and related talent agenda. My strength lies in marrying business and tech, envisioning and creating crucial "Digital Core" capabilities our clients need to thrive in the Total Enterprise Reinvention era. I am a frequent author and speaker in the Italian business community on how AI and the new technologies in general are impacting the industries, especially in Banking where I pitch in boards and to the C-level suite. I am one of our spoke person of the Accenture Technology Vision in ICEG. I am now leading the Accenture DATA & AI practice for Italy, Central Europe and Greece, based in Milan.
